FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

October 19, 2012

Channel Your Inner Von Trapp and Sing-Along to “The Sound of Music”

BEND, OR – Hiss the countess, bark at Rolf, and recount your “Favorite Things” with Maria as you sing along to the on-screen lyrics of Rodgers and Hammerstein’s timeless Technicolor classic “The Sound of Music” at the Tower Theatre on Friday, November 23rd, 2012.

“After a day of holiday shopping, it’s the perfect night out with family, friends and classmates,” says Ray Solley, executive director of the Tower Theatre Foundation. “The Sound of Music is the ultimate sing-along movie to lift your mood and get you into the Christmas spirit.”

The audience-participation phenomenon - based on the 1965 Academy Award-winning family drama with Julie Andrews and Christopher Plummer - started in England in the 1980s and fills the Hollywood Bowl annually, but comes to Bend for one show only.

Starting at 6.30pm, get your voice warmed-up, dive into your complimentary “magic moments prop pack” (including a curtain swatch and a branch of Edelweiss) and make last adjustments to your Sound of Music-themed outfit before flaunting it in the costume parade. Prizes will be awarded for most original costume - so let your imagination run wild!

- What: Sing-along “Sound of Music” (1965, rated G)
- When: Friday, November 23rd, 2012
Show starts at 6:30PM
- Where: Tower Theatre - 835 NW Wall Street - Bend, Oregon
